

2013 MID-AMERICA SAND DRAG SERIES PRESENTED BY NSDN & TROWER RACING

RACE 3 RECAP

The 2013 Mid-America Sand Drag Series came to a thrilling conclusion during the Season Finale at Atoka Motorsports Park in Atoka, OK. Oklahoma's Rod Trower (Top Alcohol) and Missouri's Terry Glasscock (Top Eliminator) continued their dominant season en route to locking up championships in their respective categories. Trower swept the MASD season, although he faced tough competition from fellow Oklahoman Marc Luce over the series first two events. Marc's season ended early with a crash in September at Thunder Valley Sand Drags, but thankfully he walked away and still earned second place in Top Alcohol points. Glasscock came one round short of a clean sweep on the season in the Top Eliminator class with his Pinto-powered Dragster. Dee Trower finished second in the TE standings. The biggest action on Saturday night at Atoka was in the Pro 1 Cars category. The point leaders heading into Atoka were on a crash course all night long with both landing in the final round to decide the championship. Not only was the MASD title on the line, but Oklahoma racer Tim Feuerhelm could also lock up the Atoka track championship with a final round win. Standing in his way would be defending 2012 MASD Pro 1 Cars Champ John Acker from Texas. This would be a fierce battle, but when the dust settled Tim's Motorcycle-powered Dragster turned on the win light to clinch both series titles. The Pro 1 Quads class also had its share of drama with the title on the line. Incoming points leader Danny Travis lost a close round one battle opening up the door in the championship battle. With that opening, Oklahoma racer Randy Kimbley took full advantage as he won his round one match up with a 4.307 on a 4.30 dial. This would earn Randy the second round bye run, and clinch the 2013 MASD Pro 1 Quads championship. For full coverage and more info on the MASD series, go to www.NationalSandDragNews.com.
